

Department:	Faculty of Information Technology
Course Name	Data Structures
Hours per week	4
Number of Credits	4
Course Description	The course is designed to introduce various linear and non-linear data structures and the corresponding operations on them, related algorithms and their complexity analysis are also presented. After taking the course, the students are expected to be able to design appropriate data structures with proper algorithms to fulfill efficiently the requirement of the application.