Department: Faculty of Information Technology

Course Name Introduction to Microwave Technology

Hours per week 4

Number of Credits 4

Course Description The course will introduce the basic microwave technology, antenna technology, propagation, and special topics in microwave and propagation field.

The objective of the course is to introduce fundamental concepts of microwave communication technology and related special topic in